A large flat-screen TV is mounted on the wall above the bar. The ceiling features exposed dark wood beams and recessed lighting. PHASE 1

Compass Private Exclusives

Just like many companies test products with a smaller audience before launch, listing your home as a Private Exclusive allows you to test price, gain critical insights, generate early demand, and extend your marketing runway — all before going public.

- Make your listing available to a nationwide network of 34,000 top agents and their millions of clients.
- Begin to create urgency and generate buyer interest without accumulating days on market or damaging public price drops.
- Sometimes you'll find a buyer that will pay a premium for certainty and reduced stress.

PHASE 2

Compass Coming Soon

Publicly launch your property on Compass.com, showcasing it to all agents and consumers on the internet without displaying days on market or price drop history. Signal to the market that increased competition for the listing will be coming soon when it's launched on all other sites.

- Receive key engagement insights from your agent about how agents and their buyers are viewing, commenting, and sharing your listing on Compass.com — data that is lost when listings go into other platforms.
- Improve the chance of ranking higher on Google while increasing the likelihood that serious buyers contact us directly, instead of an agent who may not be familiar with your home.
- In this phase, have more control over your data so photos of your home and personal information don't stay on the Internet.

PHASE 3

Compass Public Listing

Now that you've tested the market and generated early demand, it's time to go public. List your home on all major real estate websites, including Zillow, Trulia, and Realtor.com, to reach the widest possible audience.

- Increase your exposure to a massive audience of potential buyers.
- Maximize your marketing budget by leveraging the power of the Compass network.
- Accelerate the sale process by leveraging the power of the Compass network.

There's something about winter that makes you take stock. The pace slows, the noise quiets, and suddenly you realize how run down you really are. The energy dips, the stubborn weight, the restless sleep that no amount of caffeine or supplements seem to fix.

You tell yourself you'll feel better when life calms down — but what if this is your body's way of asking you to pause and rebuild?

At James Clinic, we call this the renewal season. It's when we help patients repair what's been depleted, rebalance hormones, and restore energy so that by spring, you don't just feel caught up — you feel better than you have in years.

This isn't about resolutions, but about reprogramming how your body performs.

THE WINTER RESET

Winter is when your body naturally shifts into repair mode. It's the ideal time to support that process with therapies that recalibrate from the inside out — restoring hormones, balancing metabolism, and improving cellular function.

Popular winter therapies include:

- Peptide Therapy – Signals your body to rebuild, recover, and burn fat more efficiently.
- Hormone Optimization – Restores balance and focus with precision-based bioidentical therapy.
- Weight Management Programs – Personalized, data-driven plans that address metabolism and root causes.
- Ozone (MAH) Therapy – Detoxifies and strengthens at the cellular level.

- IV Vitamin Therapy – Replenishes nutrients for energy, hydration, and immune support.
- Hyperbaric Oxygen Therapy – Enhances healing, circulation, and recovery.

Think of it as giving your body an off-season — a chance to reset before you step into spring stronger, leaner, and clearer.

WHY IT WORKS

Most healthcare stops at managing symptoms. We go further, using advanced diagnostics to understand how your systems are performing — hormones, metabolism, inflammation, mitochondrial function — and build a plan to correct and optimize them.

Our approach combines what conventional medicine gets right with the innovations it often overlooks: peptides, ozone, and nutrient therapy alongside precise lab analysis and medical oversight.

A DIFFERENT KIND OF MEDICINE

Whether you're ready for a full concierge partnership or prefer to begin with a few stand-alone therapies, every patient journey starts with the same principle: find what's off, fix it, and make it sustainable.

This winter, give your body what it's been asking for — a strategic reset.

Because when spring arrives, you shouldn't be recovering from another stressful year. You should be thriving, energized, and ready for whatever comes next.

WHEN IT'S BUILT AROUND YOU.

JAMES CLINIC

Sun, Splash & a Fresh Start After a Wild Spring!

BY CLARKSON VALLEY MAYOR SUE MCNAMARA, RESIDENT OF KEHRS MILL ESTATES
SPONSORED BY WHACK A MOLE RODENT REMOVAL

What a crazy spring this has been—we had a mild winter—until we didn't! Then, in typical Missouri fashion, we swung from bitter cold to beautiful spring weather, just enough to coax trees and flowers into bloom. But winter wasn't quite finished with us. We saw serious storms (thankfully not the tornadoes of last year), though straight-line winds still took down trees and damaged homes in Clarkson Valley, even crossing Clarkson Road into Ballwin.

But now it's May—the deck furniture is uncovered, pools are opening, grills are smoking, and the kiddos are getting ready for prom.

Our April elections resulted, as expected, in the reelection of three unopposed incumbent ward representatives:

- Ward 1: Jeff Schweig (Kehrs Mill Estates)
- Ward 2: Brock MacDonald (The Manors)
- Ward 3: Lin Midyett (Westhampton)

Congratulations to all—we look forward to continuing our work together!

Due to publishing deadlines, this article is written in early April, so we are working on projects that have not yet occurred. On April 14, we will have hosted a public meeting with MoDOT to listen to residents and exchange ideas regarding safety issues along Clarkson Road. MoDOT will also present information about future resurfacing projects.

We are continuing work on updating our building codes. Although it has been a long and complex process, we have made significant progress and we anticipate adopting most of the 2024 International Code Council codes, with modifications that reflect the character of Clarkson Valley. We hope to bring these forward for a vote in early summer.

Spring is a time to stay weather-aware—and to keep an eye out for wildlife. Birds, bunnies, and deer are especially active this time of year. Avoid approaching a doe that seems unusually unafraid; she is likely guarding a nearby fawn. If you are lucky enough to discover a tiny fawn nestled in your landscape, leave it undisturbed. Does often give birth to more than one fawn, placing them some distance apart to reduce vulnerability to predators. Mama is close by and will return to them. If she perceives a threat, she will defend her young with her sharp front hooves.

Memorial Day marks the unofficial start of summer—picnics, barbecues, hiking, lake days, float trips and road trips, and all the summer outdoor activities we enjoy (along with the heat and humidity of a Missouri summer!). Ours is a military family; five of the last six generations in our family have volunteered for service. As you enjoy the beers and brats, I ask you to take a moment to remember those who this holiday commemorates: we are the Home of the Free Because of the Brave.

Best,

Sue McNamara

Passiglia Landscape, Nursery

& Garden Center

A legacy of excellence!

Chris Passiglia, the owner of Passiglia Landscape, Nursery & Garden Center, grew up immersed in the nursery business, learning the trade alongside his father, uncle, and brothers. The business began in 1950 as a small produce and nursery retailer on Broadway in St. Louis, selling shrubs, fruits, vegetables, and flowers. During the holiday season, it was the go-to destination for Christmas trees.

In 1974, the nursery moved to Ellisville, where Chris gained hands-on experience working with his family. After their father retired, Chris and his brothers relocated the business to its current 10-acre site in Wildwood in 1990. Here, Chris expanded the offerings to include landscape design and installation services, establishing Passiglia Nursery as a leader in the St. Louis landscaping industry. His distinctive style and innovative designs have set a benchmark for quality and creativity.

Now leading the third generation of the family business, Chris has transformed Passiglia Landscape, Nursery &

Garden Center into a hub for quality, beauty, and service. Under his leadership, the business has embraced modern updates and a strong online presence, highlighting its evolution and offerings.

Passiglia's knowledgeable staff, with years of experience, is dedicated to teaching and supporting clients. The nursery hosts classes, workshops, and special events throughout the year to inspire and educate customers. Their "TO THE ROOT" podcast, now in its third year, shares gardening tips, stories, and demos, offering an engaging resource for plant enthusiasts.

Chris and his team of designers and installers work collaboratively with clients to create one-of-a-kind landscapes. Their goal is to bring clients' dreams to life, delivering projects that exceed expectations in beauty and functionality. "We strive to provide an exceptional experience, from start to finish, resulting in landscapes that reflect our clients' visions," Chris explains.

The legacy of the Passiglia family continues with Chris's son, Cameron, who represents the fourth generation in the business. With hands-on experience in plant health, maintenance, sales, and landscaping, Cameron is poised to carry forward the family's tradition of excellence.

A visit to Passiglia Landscape, Nursery & Garden Center offers more than just shopping—it's a full botanical experience. The nursery's beautiful displays and well-organized layout invite visitors to take their time and enjoy the scenery. On their website, you can explore stunning landscape projects and view the calendar of upcoming classes and events.

Passiglia Landscape, Nursery & Garden Center is located in Wildwood and is well worth the visit for anyone seeking inspiration or professional landscaping expertise. Whether you're looking for top-quality plants, expert design

Handling Your Inheritance Five Key Moves

Most articles on inheritance focus on those leaving the assets behind, covering trusts, estates, and leaving a legacy. But what about the person on the receiving end? Inheriting money can feel overwhelming, especially during an already emotional time. Here's a few thoughts to keep in mind.

SPONSORED BY
ANDREW PHIPPS, DETALUS ADVISORS

HIT PAUSE ON MAJOR DECISIONS

Your first instinct after receiving an inheritance might be to act quickly.

Maybe you want to pay off the mortgage or make some investments. Resist this impulse. Give yourself at least six months before making any significant financial moves. This allows you to process the emotional weight of the inheritance while getting your priorities clear. Park the funds in a high-yield savings account or money market during this waiting period. Remember, the money isn't going anywhere, but hasty decisions are hard to undo.

UNDERSTAND THE TAX PICTURE

Tax implications on inherited money vary widely depending on what you receive, so take inventory of everything before making moves. Cash inheritances typically aren't taxable income, while inherited IRAs come with required distributions and tax consequences. Real estate and brokerage accounts get a tax benefit that resets their value to the date you inherited them, which can reduce what you owe if you decide to sell. Understanding the tax treatment of each asset type shapes what you keep, sell, or donate.

MAKE INTENTIONAL CHOICES ABOUT EACH ASSET

Not everything you inherit needs to stay in your portfolio. Maybe your aunt left you stocks in companies that don't align with your values or risk tolerance, or the family vacation home requires more upkeep than you can manage. Go through each asset and ask whether it serves your financial plan. Some pieces might be keepers while others make more sense to liquidate or donate. You're not required to hold onto something just because it was gifted to you.

“An inheritance changes your financial picture, which means your beneficiary designations and account titling likely need updates.”

UPDATE YOUR OWN ESTATE DOCUMENTS

An inheritance changes your financial picture, which means your beneficiary designations and account titling likely need updates. Review your will, trusts, and powers of attorney if you inherited a substantial amount, and make certain the right people are named on retirement accounts and life insurance policies. Should I invest inherited money? That depends on your existing plan, but before deploying capital, confirm your estate documents reflect your current wishes.

DEFINE YOUR MONEY'S PURPOSE

Write down what this inheritance means for your life. Is it early retirement funding? A business launch? Your children's education? Defining your money's purpose prevents it from disappearing into general spending. It also honors the person who left it to you by putting it toward something meaningful. This creates a decision-making filter for every choice ahead.

Receiving an inheritance comes with both financial and emotional complexity. Thinking through these steps will help you make choices that align with your goals rather than reacting to the moment. If you're unsure where to start with the tax implications or investment decisions, a financial advisor can help you sort through your options and create a plan that makes sense for your situation. The person who left you this gift wanted it to improve your life, and thoughtful planning is how you make that happen.

This is neither a solicitation nor recommendation to purchase or sell any investment or insurance product or service, and should not be relied upon as such. This information also should not be construed as investment, tax or legal advice. You should consult with your tax, legal or other advisor prior to making a financial decision.

From district championships to lifelong friendships, senior Lauren Shuert has balanced excellence in three sports while creating unforgettable moments alongside her teammates—and her sister—before heading to Ole Miss for the next chapter.

Marquette High School senior Lauren Shuert has made the most of her four years as a dedicated multi-sport athlete, leaving a lasting impression on her school and teammates. Competing in tennis, basketball, and soccer throughout high school, Lauren's athletic journey began early—picking up a basketball in third grade and stepping onto the soccer field at just four years old. Her passion and commitment have been evident ever since.

On the court, Lauren served as a guard for the basketball team, while on the soccer field she anchored the defense as a center back. Her leadership and determination played a key role in her team's success, including an impressive milestone this year: winning the district championship for the third consecutive season. The team finished with a strong 24–5 record, and Lauren's individual efforts earned her recognition on the Class 6 District 2 All-District Team, along with Academic All-State honors.

For Lauren, however, the true reward of sports goes beyond wins and accolades. This past season was especially meaningful, as she had the opportunity to play basketball alongside her younger sister, Emily, for the first time. Combined with the friendships she's built over the years, these moments have made her experience unforgettable.

Her proudest achievement came during the district championship game against St. Joe, where her team demonstrated resilience and growth, fighting hard from start to finish after a challenging earlier matchup in the season.

Sweet Simplicity

Fresh strawberry freezer jam in just 30 minutes!

BY CINDY MUNICH, RESIDENT OF THE MANORS OF CLARKSON VALLEY, SPONSORED BY CRAVE COOKIES

May is truly the ideal time in this area to enjoy fresh, ripe strawberries. Whether you prefer to pick them yourself or purchase a few quarts from local markets, there are plenty of options around town. Recently, I whipped up a batch of Strawberry Freezer Jam, and I have to say, the flavor was absolutely phenomenal! It tasted so fresh. The process is incredibly simple, requiring only four ingredients, and there's no need for canning or special equipment. You also avoid spending much time at the stove—just enough to dissolve the Sure-Jell in water.

Begin by selecting the juiciest, ripest strawberries you can find. Soak them in cool water for about ten minutes to ensure a thorough cleaning, since strawberries are quite porous. After soaking, remove the stems. Make sure to clean and dry your containers well; I typically opt for eight 6-ounce jars. Although glass jars look appealing, I prefer plastic jars for freezer storage. I have concerns about using glass containers in the freezer.

Once you've gathered and prepped your ingredients, follow the recipe closely for a jam that will elevate your morning toast to new heights of flavor. Enjoy the freshness and simplicity that make this homemade treat a standout every spring!

Don't forget to include a batch of Crave Cookies this summer. They are a delicious addition to any gathering!

INGREDIENTS

- 2 quarts fully ripe strawberries, stems removed, then diced
- 4 cups granulated sugar
- ¾ cup water
- 1 box Sure-Jell fruit pectin
- containers to put the jam in

PREPARATION & COOKING INSTRUCTIONS

1. In a food processor add strawberries and pulse just a few times, until the strawberries are well diced, but not fully mashed.
2. Measure exactly 2 cups of strawberries into a large bowl.
3. Add sugar, one cup at a time, stirring really well after each addition. It is important to measure sugar and strawberries exactly, or the jam will not set properly.

4. Let stand for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally.

5. Meanwhile, add water and pectin to a small saucepan. Bring to a boil, stirring occasionally

6. Once it comes to a boil, stir for 1 minute. Remove the pectin from heat and add it to the strawberries.

7. Stir mixture really well, for several minutes, until sugar is dissolved. There should not be any "grit" in the mixture.

8. Fill prepared containers with jam and leave 1/2" of space at the top.

9. Cover with lids and allow to stand at room temperature for 24 hours.

After 24 hours you can store jam in the refrigerator for up to 4 weeks or freeze it for up to 1 year!

Understanding the Business Valuation Process

Kim Wright - Fusion Business Broker

For a business broker, determining the right price for a company is one of the most critical steps in the sales process. A well-supported valuation builds credibility with sellers, attracts qualified buyers, and helps transactions move smoothly. While valuation involves both art and science, brokers typically rely on several structured methods to estimate a company's market value.

The process usually begins with gathering accurate financial information. Brokers review at least three years of financial statements, including profit and loss reports, tax returns, and balance sheets. They also examine operational details such as customer concentration, supplier relationships, employee structure, and growth trends. Understanding the story behind the numbers is essential, as adjustments are often needed to reflect the true earnings of the business.

A common step is calculating Seller's Discretionary Earnings (SDE). This metric represents the total financial benefit available to a single owner-operator. Brokers adjust reported profit by adding back items such as owner salary, personal expenses run through the business, one-time costs, depreciation, and interest. The result provides a clearer picture of the business's earning power from a buyer's perspective.

Once normalized earnings are established, brokers apply valuation multiples derived from comparable sales. These multiples vary by industry, size, and risk profile. For example, small service businesses might sell for two to three times SDE, while companies with recurring revenue, strong management teams, or scalable systems may command higher multiples.

In addition to earnings multiples, brokers consider asset value and market conditions. Asset-heavy companies—such as manufacturing firms—may require a detailed review of equipment, inventory, and real estate. Market demand, industry trends, and regional economic factors also influence value.

Finally, the broker synthesizes this information into a pricing recommendation. The goal is not simply to calculate a number but to determine a realistic listing price that reflects both financial performance and market demand. When done carefully, the valuation process sets the foundation for a successful sale and helps align expectations between seller and buyer.

"My approach is simple but proven: Understand the seller's goals, identify qualified buyers, and manage every step of the process with professionalism and care."

Why Stress Management Might Be the Missing Piece in Your Fat Loss Journey

You're eating well, staying consistent with workouts, and prioritizing protein, yet the scale won't move. Before cutting more calories or adding extra cardio, it may be worth looking at a less obvious factor: stress.

BY DEREK HOFFMAN, RESIDENT OF WESTHAMPTON & OWNER OF IGNITE PERFORMANCE AND HEALTH

Fat loss is often framed as “calories in versus calories out,” but the body is more complex than a simple equation. Hormones, sleep, recovery, and nervous system balance all play critical roles. When stress becomes chronic, these systems can work against you, making fat loss significantly harder.

One of the main players is cortisol, the body's primary stress hormone. In short bursts, cortisol is helpful. It gives you energy and helps you respond to challenges. But when stress is ongoing from work, busy schedules, poor sleep, or even excessive exercise, cortisol can remain elevated. Over time, this can increase hunger, trigger cravings for high-calorie foods, and encourage fat storage, particularly around the abdomen.

Chronic stress also impacts other key systems. It can reduce sleep quality, which affects recovery and metabolism. It may influence hormones that help maintain lean muscle mass, and it can slow metabolic processes, making it harder for the body to burn energy efficiently. Even when nutrition and exercise are dialed in, unmanaged stress can stall progress.

The good news? Small changes can make a big difference. Prioritizing consistent, high-quality sleep is one of the most powerful tools for regulating stress. Training smart by balancing strength work with adequate recovery, helps prevent exercise from becoming another stressor. Simple practices like daily walks, breathwork, or short mindfulness sessions can calm the nervous system. Finally, balanced nutrition, not overly restrictive dieting, supports recovery and steady energy.

Fat loss isn't just about working harder. Often, it's about creating the right internal environment. When stress is managed, the body is better able to recover, adapt, and change, allowing progress to happen more naturally.

Visit www.ignitepah.com to learn more.

How AI is Affecting the Medical Field

WRITTEN BY VIHAAN VADUKA, RESIDENT OF KEHRS MILL RD.,
7TH GRADE STUDENT AT CRESTVIEW MIDDLE SCHOOL

Vihaan Vaduka

INTRODUCTION

We all know that AI is used in many different ways. Big tech companies like Google and Microsoft use it every single day, but now something different is happening — AI is becoming a very important and useful tool in the Medical Field. Doctors and Hospitals are using AI to diagnose diseases a lot quicker and more efficiently. AI is also being used to assist in surgeries like helping with precise cuts and even helping patients heal faster.

BACKGROUND OR OVERVIEW OF AI

AI is a very useful tool the world has invented. It allows humans to struggle less with daily life problems and helps them reduce stress. As AI is improving day by day it is being used in more situations, the medical field has noticed how powerful AI is, and is now incorporating AI into their daily errands.

AI HELPS DOCTORS DIAGNOSE DISEASES FASTER AND MORE ACCURATELY

One of the most important ways AI is used in the Medical Field is diagnosing diseases faster. Doctors look at X-Rays, CT scans, and MRI scans to see if there are problems in the body, but these scans can be hard to look at and Doctors can miss tiny and small details. These tiny and small details can be signs of different types of cancers and diseases. When using AI it helps Doctors catch these tiny details to help Doctors catch cancers and diseases earlier. AI doesn't replace doctors it just gives them another set of eyes to help them make the diagnoses process faster and more accurate.

AI HELPS DOCTORS DURING SURGERIES

Another way AI is used in the Medical Field is by assisting surgeons during surgeries. The process of surgery is first the surgeon opens the area where something needs to be fixed or taken out. The second step is removing or repairing something damaged. Then finally surgeons close the area and nurses clean the site. AI helps this process by assisting the surgeon with precise movements, giving surgeons a better view of the body, and tracking vital signs during the surgery such as heart rate.

AI HELPS MONITOR PATIENTS AND PREVENT EMERGENCIES

The final main way AI is used in the medical field is Monitoring Patients and showing signs of Emergencies. Many people wear devices like heart monitors to collect information throughout the day. AI looks at this data and looks for patterns to see if there is a problem in the body. For example, it looks at data and it could find an irregular heart beat or maybe a sudden drop in oxygen levels. When something looks wrong AI can immediately alert the patient or doctor. This use of AI prevents emergencies before they happen and allows doctors to treat the patient before anything major happens. Because of this, AI is a very important tool for keeping patients safe.

CONCLUSION

AI is becoming a very important tool in the Medical Field. From helping doctors diagnose diseases faster to monitoring patients and preventing emergencies. AI is changing how the medical world works. AI is overall helping medical care safer, quicker, and more accurately. As AI is improving day to day it is opening more possibilities in the future to change the world. The combination of doctors and artificial intelligence is evolving and it's exciting to see what it will come up with in the near future.
